

The Town of Fairview has implemented a burn ban. The Collin County Fire Marshal also issued the same burn ban earlier today for all unincorporated areas of Collin County. This burn ban is currently in place for the next 90 days or until conditions exist to either lift the ban or extend it.

In normal times, Fairview has restrictions on open burning but allows for residents on 10+ acres to conduct agricultural burns (with a Town issued permit) and allows for private home barbecue grills and barbecue pits to be used. During this burn ban, only the private home type barbecue grills will be permitted to be used. The ban includes burning of brush and natural vegetation on any land parcel and in any outdoor fire pit or container regardless of size. A gas grill/gas fire pit is still allowed as it does not release embers that may spread and cause fires.

If you have any questions, please review the Town's Fire Code Ordinance: Fire Bans Section 5.01.001; Definitions: Open Burn, Section 5.05.001, Exemptions, Section 5.05.002 or call Assistant Chief Bell at 972-886-4238.
