WELCOME!

To the inaugural edition of the

Fairview Town News

After many years of sharing Town news and views via our Monthly Newsletter, we are absolutely enthused about this new format. And, you will appreciate, that it comes at no cost to the Town.

Our goals in launching the “Town News” are simple ... Our first goal is to “raise the bar” regarding how we communicate and our second goal is to band all of our wonderful neighborhoods into a greater sense of community. In fact, many of the initiatives that you will see coming from Town Hall, will be focused on just that, and the “Town News” will be a meaningful enabler in that direction.

So, what can you expect within the “Town News”? Well, I’m glad you asked. In addition to updates about Town Hall events and initiatives, it will include neighborhood articles, such as on the history of Fairview (did you know that Frank and Jessie James as well as Bonnie and Clyde once roamed here?). There will be updates from both the Lovejoy and McKinney school districts, and you can expect us to continuously promote The Village at Fairview, or, as I like to refer to it, our “downtown”. While these are some of the initial informational items that you can expect, no doubt that as the “Town News” evolves, there will be many additional interesting items that will be covered. By the way, do you have any great family recipes that you would like to share? Again, just another example of what we have planned.

Perhaps it goes without saying, Fairview is a very special place, and is still the best kept secret in Collin County! (Well, almost). As it is important that we always seek to improve, this is a small step, but a step nonetheless, towards our goal of continuous improvement.

Lastly, I would be absolutely remiss in not presenting a mighty THANK YOU to the many volunteers at Heritage Ranch that played a critical on-going role in organizing and distributing our Fairview Monthly Newsletter. While it’s simple to say, it’s the absolute truth! We could not have published the newsletter without you. THANK YOU!

How Did Fairview Gets its Name?

It was a beautiful Memorial Day weekend in 2013 when I went to visit Ginny Apple and Penny Apple Trosper at the Apple home- stead on FM 1378 also known as Country Club Road. Many of the Apple descendants still live at the old Fairview Dairy which faces the present Highway 5, which used to be the “modern Highway 75, a two-lane paved road all the way to Dallas”. The beautiful ranch style white brick house sits back from the road and was built in 1948, the Apple girls tell me. They show me their grandparents’ home where they spent many memorable days, nights and holidays and point out that the kitchen is all original. They show me the decorative cutwork around the kitchen cabinets. They still have the old bell outside the patio door that “Granny Apple” used to ring to get the men to come to dinner.

The large spacious home is set back from the road and has the very large picture window in front of the house where it was customary to place the family Christmas tree. From this window they recalled seeing the many, many semi-trucks that had caused traffic jams, since some trucks were too tall to get under the railroad underpass. Many got stuck there with the roofs of their trailers rolled back like a sardine can. Some trucks would let the air out of the tires to try to get loose from being stuck under the bridge. Therefore, the trucks had to back up, turn around and go south on Country Club Rd., just as we are doing during the construction at the old RR underpass going on for several months now.

Penny and Ginny had scores of photographs, newspaper clippings and auction flyers spread out on their Great Grandmother Apple’s table, many of which were gathered by their sister, Nancy.

They tell me about the large pecan trees that graced the front yard as you looked onto the traffic flowing past on Hwy 5. They also tell me a family story passed down that Bonnie and Clyde had once hidden in one of the culverts just east of the RR underpass when they were eluding the law. They were hanging out all day in that culvert until the law left the area. The sisters laughed and laughed at this because it often spooked them to know that Bonnie and Clyde had once set foot on their property. They recalled also sitting on the railroad tracks over the underpass and letting their legs hang down until a big truck came, then they had to pull their legs up real quick. Their Granny Apple scolded them many times for this.

The Fairview Dairy was owned by Col. George Apple. He said it was a pretty “fair view.”

One particularly interesting story was when Ginny was riding her pony one day, and decided to jump onto a moving train from her pony, just to see if she could do it. The train was going to McKinney and she was too afraid to jump off, so she ended up in downtown McKinney. Her grandparents were called and had to come get her. She was about 10 years old at the time. Ginny and Penny kept laughing at this, but said that Ginny was not laughing when Granny and Granddaddy Apple came to pick her up.

Sam Apple (b. 1876-d. 1942) was manager of the Pecan Grove Dairy in McKinney. Col. Apple followed in his father’s footsteps in the dairy business and he bought the family property in 1943 to start his own dairy farm. He said “I was milking before I could walk, almost. I was raised under a cow.”

Their grandfather, Col. George Apple Sr. (b.1900-d.1973) was the son of Sam and Emily Beck Apple. Their other children were, Ed, Cecil, Fred and Mattie Alice. Col. Apple married Ruby Milligan and their only son was George (Bill) William Apple, Jr. (b.1923-d.1993) who went on to become a very beloved country doctor in nearby Plano. Dr. Apple and his wife, Addie Bob Jackson Apple (b.1923-d.2000), also of McKinney, had four children – Penny, Ginny, Nancy and George (Bill) William Apple, III. They grew up in Plano, and all but Ginny now live in McKinney.

According to an interview with Ginny and Penny Apple, granddaughters of Col. Apple, their grandfather hitchhiked up to Kansas City, Missouri Auctioneer’s School in 1923 when he was a young man. He helped pay his way through by mopping floors at night. Col. Apple was a master auctioneer. They said that he never forgot a cow, horse, bull, steer that he auctioned nor anyone he met.

When the bidding slowed to a crawl, with his “homespun humor” and jokes, he managed to get the bidding going again. He had a sing-song chant that was very familiar with the oil lease crowd. He was written up in Parade Magazine during the 1960s as being one of the most successful and highest paid auctioneers in the nation. According to an article by Frank Tolbert, he had a flood-tide of mumbo-jumbo that often, at the end of his performance, would get him bursts of applause. He auctioned for 37 years, selling more than a half a million head of cattle (that number would double before his death in 1973). One time he auctioned for eight hours straight without taking a break. His granddaughters say that he was a “larger than life” character. His wife, Ruby, took the money at the auctions. He had a big top tent and chairs that he used for his auctions and he did all the advertising.

The girls explained that he had never been in the military, but all auctioneers were called Colonel at that time. He also auctioned oil leases. He knew LBJ when he was a senator and there is a photo of them together shaking hands at the McKinney airport (which was located on a hill-top just east of the RR underpass at that time). LBJ was arriving in a helicopter for the oil lease auction that was being held at the Fairview Dairy Farm under the Big Top.

Col. Apple retired from the dairy business at age 65 just when the law was passed requiring pasteurization of all milk. He did not feel like buying the pasteurization equipment, although he could have, his granddaughters say. However, he continued auctioning until his death at age 73. The farm had electricity early on and the Fairview Dairy farm had one of the first guard lights on their barn. One of the houses by their barn used to be a milking barn and is now made into a duplex. The Apple General Store is across Hwy 5 on the west side and is still there behind the small cinder block building.

Nancy, the youngest of the three Apple girls, sent an old advertisement that said the Fairview Dairy was "Three miles south of McKinney at the Turn of Three Roads". These were the old Frisco Road and Country Club Rd. I didn't know that Fairview was at the Turn of Three Roads! Their farm was also called Apple Acres.

Gwen Pettit reported in her interview with Mrs. Mattie Alice Apple Dickinson, that her daddy called his dairy the Fairview Dairy because "he just thought it was pretty because it was kinda upon a hill and away he could see the farm, and it was a beautiful name." Lillie Mae and Hag Knight, long-time residents of the Wetsel community said that when the two communities of Wetsel and Fairview were combined, the name Fairview was chosen because of all the work that Col. George Apple had put into incorporating the town which happened on May 7, 1958. Gwen Pettit also reported that as early as the 1920s, people referred to this crossroads as the community of Fairview.

Col. Apple sold oil leases all over Texas and throughout the Southwest and Missouri. He was on the board of the Collin County National Bank in McKinney for years. He was Chairman of the Texas Livestock Commission. He was also the Grand Marshal many times in the parades in McKinney. He was invited to LBJ's inauguration. He was a mayor early on and even donated its first fire truck- an old 1940s engine he had bought somewhere at auction.

Though Col. Apple and his wife, Ruby, are long gone, Apple Acres has been home to Bill Apple and Penny Apple Trosper for many years now, where they raised their children, Kellie and Eric. Nancy, who lives in Squeezepenny, also lived there for quite some time. Ginny has lived in Connecticut for most of her adult life, but Bill still raises beef cattle there as you will see when you drive by the old Fairview dairy barn on Apple Acres. That is, whenever the RR underpass gets finished.

Commercial Planned Development District Update -

Community Open House

The Town of Fairview is in the process of updating the Commercial Planned Development District (CPDD) Master Plan and Zoning Ordinance. The CPDD is a very important area of the Town that is envisioned to become an employment and commercial center that will provide significant economic development opportunities for the community. The District is roughly bounded by US 75 on the west, Frisco Road on the north, Stacy Road on the south and SH 5 on the east (including the properties immediately to the east of SH 5). The Town has been working with a consultant team to review anticipated real estate market conditions, the existing CPDD master plan and zoning ordinance, and changes in the community since the adoption of the previous master plan to identify potential changes to the plan to create alignment with real estate market conditions and community desires.

There will be an Open House on February 27, 2014 at 7:00 in the evening at Noah's of Fairview to review and discuss preliminary recommendations for changes to the CPDD.

FAIRVIEW ROADS & UPDATES

Fairview enjoys the country look and feel for a lot of different reasons. One of them is the prevalence of asphalt residential streets that are less common here in the Metroplex. A lot of these streets were built back in the 1970's and 80's and have been an important part of our neighborhoods. Asphalt is easy to replace, flexible and much faster to install than a concrete roadway. These types of roads are flexible and function well when the soils move up and down. Our black, clay soils that Fairview is built on move a lot from the wet years to the dry years like the last 3 with inadequate rainfall. I'm sure some of you have also felt this in the foundation of your homes and may have had piers installed to resist that movement. Our many trees and roadside ditches that provide that oasis of country in an urban environment affect these clay soils. As water leaves the soil due to evaporation and evapotranspiration (water leaving the leaves of plant life), the roads sink just a little or a lot, depending on the contrast from wet to dry. As our roads move up and down, the asphalt simply moves with it, unlike concrete that doesn't always flex where voids are created under the pavement. After a few years, cracks multiply in the asphalt surface and no real harm is done as long as those cracks get sealed from time to time. The rule of thumb is to continually perform routine maintenance on them for 15-20 years and then replace the asphalt surface completely. If the rock base under the asphalt is inadequate or has failed under the loads of heavy traffic, it needs to be reworked as well.

Fairview has about 13 miles of these asphalt roads that are beyond that 15-20 year life and need resurfacing and in some cases, sub-base work as well. The council approved around 5 miles of these in 2012 to be reworked and the roads selected were completed. We now have around 8 more miles to do and the council has authorized the much needed work for 2013-14. Some of the work is occurring in east Fairview right now, but will migrate westward in the spring. We will be in many of your neighborhoods removing the old and bringing in the new. In most all cases, roads will remain open during the entire process. This is another benefit of asphalt road work in that you do not have to shut down traffic to repair the pavement. So as 2014 moves along, Fairview will be receiving a much needed facelift of our residential streets that have served us so well for the last 30 years or more. In the next issue we will identify those that have already been completed and those that are on the schedule for this year.

Just a quick note on State Hwy 5 that so many are wondering when it will be opening. This is a TxDOT project entirely and the state tells us that the contractor was given until late February to complete this project. So unless the state grants them an extension, the road should be opened in a couple of months. We are all anxiously awaiting the reopening of an important north-south roadway for Fairview and the surrounding communities.

Annual Trash Off and Household Hazardous Waste Disposal Event

It's that time of year again to begin thinking about sprucing up your property and getting rid of all those old paint cans, chemicals and electronics that are lying around and cluttering up the garage.

The Town has tentatively scheduled this year's clean up event for Saturday, April 12th from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at 500 State Hwy 5. Please check the Town's website periodically for details and confirmation of the date. You will need to provide proof of residency, typically your driver's license or a copy of your water bill when you arrive at the disposal site.

We will accept almost any type of waste with only the following exceptions:

- MEDICAL WASTE
- CONCRETE OR ASPHALT
- REFRIGERATORS
- TIRES

Every year we see greater participation and interest in this event. With that in mind, please try to arrive as early as possible to avoid lines and long wait times.

Town of Fairview Rotating Art Program

Did you know that the Town of Fairview has a Rotating Art Program? On a quarterly basis the town's Public Art Committee establishes a new theme and accepts applications for consideration. Applications are received and judged by the Public Art Committee. Artists that are selected have their artwork displayed in the town hall lobby as part of a three month show for all visitors to see and enjoy. The upcoming second quarter theme for 2014 is "Waterscapes." Artwork selected to be part of the second quarter theme "Waterscapes" will be on display from April 1st through the end of June 2014.

Please visit the Town of Fairview website at www.fairviewtexas.org and see Top News on the homepage for more information about the theme "Waterscapes" and how to submit your artwork for consideration.

Get Connected for Emergency Alert

The Nixle notification system was made available to Fairview residents in November 2013. Town staff is excited to see continued growth in subscribers. Nixle is a digital platform which allows residents to receive text messages and/or email alerts related to Fairview news, events and updates. Emergency alerts and advisory notifications can be sent instantly, allowing for immediate and accurate information straight from town staff.

There is no charge from the town for this service, but message and data rates may apply if you choose to receive alerts through your cell phone and/or smart device(s).

Fairview Half Marathon and 5K

The Town of Fairview will be hosting the second annual Fairview Half Marathon and 5K on Saturday, April 5th, 2014. We had great success at last year's event, with nearly 900 participants. The races are owned and produced by well-respected race director Libby Jones, owner of The Active Joe. The Jones produced Showdown Half Marathon and 5K in October boasted 1,200 participants and we are planning to have an even larger number for our April event. Fairview is gaining a great reputation in the running community because of the support of our residents as well as our fire and police departments.

Half marathon runners will receive a technical dry-wicking shirt, personalized bib (for those who register by the cutoff) and large finisher's medal. 5K runners will also receive the shirt and personalized bib. Online registration is available now through March 31st, 2014. For sponsorship opportunities, please contact info@fairviewhalf.com.

ALLEN-FAIRVIEW CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Annual Gala

The Allen-Fairview Chamber of Commerce Gala is tentatively scheduled for April 11th, 2014. The annual banquet serves as a volunteer appreciation event, recognizing outstanding Chamber of Commerce volunteers. The Chamber will also award both the small and large businesses of the year during the program.

The banquet, always a sold out event, acts as the biggest fundraiser of the year for the Chamber. A four-course catered dinner will be provided, accompanied by a beer and wine bar and both silent and live auctions. Entertainment is still being planned; however, past years have included a live band with dancing, a jazz band, comedians and celebrity guest speakers.

The event is open to the public and companies willing to purchase a table sponsorship or event sponsorship. Event sponsors will be included in all marketing material leading up to the banquet and will be recognized during the night.
